It will be my great honor to be the host of this business delegation of capable managers and part of this study tour to South Africa. I am very much impressed by your enthusiasm and interest to learn.

According to my experience, I have come to this conclusion that our social and cultural commonalities provide opportunities for learning and applying best practices and lessons learned.

South Africa has managed after many years of international sanctions, to advance and move forward during the last 20 years after lifting of sanctions in 1990's. Success and advancement of South Africa has been remarkable, making the country the most advanced country in Africa and recognized leader in Information Technology, banking, petrochemical industries and a number of other fields. South Africa is among powerful economies among new emerging economies (BRICs).

We have designed for you a study, technical and recreational tour that includes visits to gold and diamond mining sites deep under the ground to see the wild life and living environment of five main animals in the green jungles of Africa.

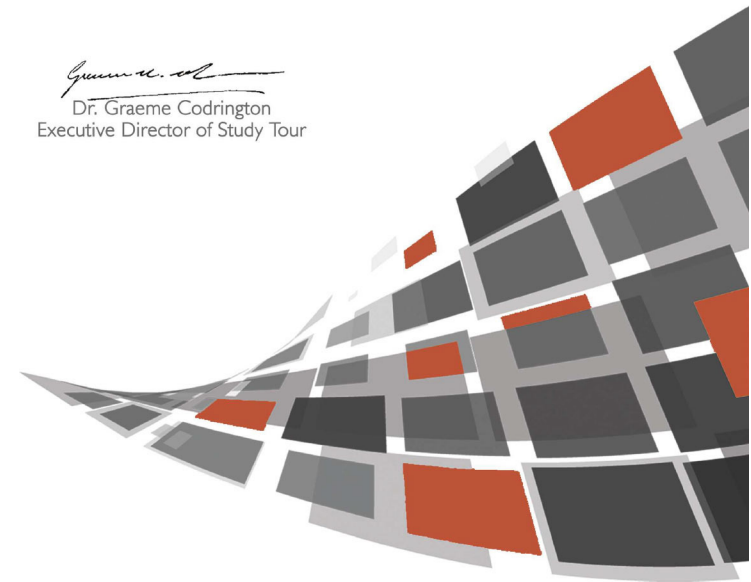

Visiting team will also visit museums, home and prison of Nelson Mandela. Your tour will also include learning lessons from experiences of this great African leader, lifestyle of lions and teamwork and networking of South African business community in their business and corporate life.

You will also attend speaking event by famous astronaut and photographer of television program Discovery, and will have unforgettable dinners in beautiful and memorable locations.

After completion of this tour you will not be the same manager and person, and by gaining novel insight you will be a much greater leader in your field of activity and business. Join the study and memorable tour to South Africa and change your personal and business life. Looking forward to seeing you in the beautiful cities of Cape Town and Johannesburg.
